Ray Leon Galford

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Galford, Wesley Chapel, was saddened by the death of their son, Ray, Thursday, May 16th at the Marlinton Memorial Hospital.

He had undergone an operation in February for appendicitis from which he had never fully recovered, and on May 12th was taken back to the hospital in a critical condition. A second operation was performed in hopes of saving his life, but to no avail, as peritonitis had already cut off the lad's chance for recovery, and death claimed him a few hours later.

Ray was born November 30th, 1912, and was aged 16 years, 6 months and 16 days. He had a bright sunny disposition which endeared him to all who knew him, and the fact that he had made a profession of faith in Christt, two years ago, was a source of consolation to his parents.

The funeral took place Friday, May 18th. A large crowd of friends and relatives were present. It was conducted by Rev. L. S. Shires and Rev. Pope. Nine girls, Gladys and Kathleen Hudson, Nola, Mabel and Mildred Galford, Stella Sheets, Estelle Ervine, Evelyn and Dolores Crowley, all cousins, carried the floral tributes, which were numerous and beautiful.

The eight pall bearers, who bore Ray to his last resting place in Wesley Chapel cemetery, were also cousins, and were as follows: Dewey, Roy, June and Ted Galford, Cecil Sheets, and Keith Hudson.

He will be missed by father, mother, brothers and sisters, as well as by a large number of friends and relatives, among whom, his aunt Mrs. H. H. Hudson, has written the following verses in his memory:

"We loved you, yes, no tongue can tell
How much we loved you, nor, how well,
God loved you too, and He thought best,
To take you home, to be at rest.

The home is lonely and so sad,
Without your smiling face, dear lad.
Yet we can say, tho' joy has fled,
'Our loved one sleeps, whom we call dead'".

What shall we do with the year ahead?
I questioned my anxious heart,
As we stood on the threshold of the day,
Packed and ready to start.

And my heart made answer, How can we go
With the road so steep and long?
Surely, I said, We can start today
With a light heart and a song.

With only a step at a time to take
And our mind and our vision clear,
If we live by the moment, I said to my heart,
There will be nothing to fear.

And there will be strength for the hill ahead
And for valleys that lie below,
And God will be there, I said to my heart,
And it answered, Let us GO.

Mrs Hamilton united with the Methdist church in early life and lived a sincere christian to the end. Ten years ago she affiliated with the Fifth Avenue Church of God in the City of Huntington where she was making her home with her daughter Mrs Keeney. Her pastor, the Rev J. E. IN MEMORIM

When the sad news passed from lip to lip, it was heard with expression of sorrow on every hand for there was no more popular young woman than Miss Janet Hiner, daughter of Edward Hiner, who resides in Highlane County, Virginia. She was born February 12, 1917, died at Beckley Sanitarium, May 15, 1934, aged 17 years, three months and three days. After the death of her mother, who died in Marlinton October 27, 1918, she made her home with her grandparents, Mr and Mrs Clay Dreppard.

We cannot say she is lost to us, for death is only a short sleep and the voice of the Lifegiver will call from the grave His own to live with Him forever.

She made a brave struggle for life, which she loved in association with parents, relatives and friends, and nature. She worshiped her grandparents and aunt. She was a senior in Marlinton high school and would have graduated this year.

Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. H. Hypes at Frost, after which her body was laid to rest in Mt. Zion Cemetery by the side of her mother. The profusion of floral offerings attested the esteem in which little Janet was held

FRENCH HOOVER DROWNED

On last Friday evening, December 1, 1928, between five and six o'c... French Hoover lost his life by drowning in Knapps Creek just above Kramer's Camp, about half way between Marlinton and Huntersville.

The night was dark, and rainy and foggy. The creek was at flood stage and getting deeper from twenty-four hours of rain on a big snow in the mountains. Mr. Hoover left Marlinton about half past five o'clock in a closed automobile to drive to Huntersville.

A little before six o'clock Isaac Barlow was coming to Marlinton and saw a car out in the middle of the stream. His attention was attracted by the lights. He could see no one in the car, and he hurried to town for assistance.

In a short time a number of men were on the scene. The car had washed down several hundred yards and toward the opposite side of the stream. C. E. Cooper swam the swift flowing waters to the car to see if the driver was still in it. The automobile was identified as Mr. Hoover's by the license number. He had been washed out through the top, which was broken when the car was turned over.

Search was made through the night for Mr. Hoover, but his body was not found until noon the next day. The water had receded and his body was seen at the lower end of a small island, over a quarter of a mile below the place where his automobile went over the bank into the stream.

His body was taken to Z. S. Smith's undertaking parlors. The physicians decision was that Mr. Hoover had come to his death by drowning. There were signs that he had received heavy blows on the chest and on the head when his car turned over. At the place where the automobile went into the creek the water ran deep and swift right at the edge of the road. There were wheel tracks to show that the car had been at the edge of the bank for some distance before turning over. A reasonable supposition is that the heavy rain and fog prevented him from seeing the road.

Two years ago near this place two other men, John Mann and Aaron Thomas were drowned when their car went over the road into Knapps Creek on a foggy, stormy night.

On Sunday Mr. Hoover's body was taken to his old home at Thorn, in Pendleton county for burial. The funeral service was conducted on Monday from the Hoover home, by Rev. Mr. Stephens of the Southern Methodist Church. An immense congregation from several counties was present to pay their tribute of respect to the memory of their friend. Burial in the Hoover family graveyard. The pall bearers were George P. Edgar, Dr. H. C. Solter, Fred C. Allen, H. Kelmenson, Marion Burr, Dr. E. G. Herold, W. C. Householder and Frank R. Hill.

Think of him still as the same, I

Seriously Injured

Most seriously injured was Carl Lermann, Jr., of East Orange, N. J., who suffered a fractured pelvis and internal lacerations. Also injured were William Taylor, eighteen of Belleville, N. J., who received a broken leg and jaw and possibly broken elbow. Both are students of Cumberland university at Lebanon, Tenn., and were believed to have been hitchhiking their way home for the Christmas holidays.

Te third man injured was Harry Long, thirty-two, of 145 South Eight street, Columbia, Pa., driver of one of the trucks involved in the crash. He received a face cut and knee injury. It was his first time out, he said, with the new truck.

The machine Long was driving was a truck-trailer van loaded with potatoes. Gutshall was thought to have been the operator of the other vehicle, a pick-up truck, in which Lewis and the three injured victims were passengers.

Trooper Numa Helsabeck, who investigated, said that the Gutshall machine was traveling north on U. S. Route 11 and the van was going south when they collided nearly headon. Both machines were demolished and potatoes were scattered all over the vicinity. The Gutshall truck ended up beside the highway, headed in the opposite direction from which it had been traveling.The truck was knocked loose from the trailer, left the road, and burned up. The trailer was left across the road.

The accident happened, the trooper said, about five oclock on a straight stretch of road about a mile south of Mint Spring. It happened on a two-lane highway.

Another student was reported to have been in the Gutshall truck at the time of the collision but a search for him was unsuccessful.

The bodies were taken to the home of Hamrick & Co. of Staunton, where they were viewed by Coroner, C. P. Obenschain, who returned a verdict of death as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident.

Most seriously injured man has since died in the hospital, the other are thought will recover.

'Tis hard to break the tender chord
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word
"Must we forever part?"
Dearest loved ones, we have laid thee
In thy peaceful grave's embrace.
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thy loving face.

We miss thee from our home, dear ones,
We miss the from thy place;
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hand
Thy fond and loving care;
Our home is dark without thee
We miss the every where.

One by one earth's ties are broken
As we see our love decay,
And the hopes so fondly cherished
Brighten but to pass away.
One by one our hopes grow brighter
As we near the shining shore,
For we know across the river
Wait the loved ones gone before.

Jesus, while our hearts are bleeding
O'er the spoils that death has won,
We would at this solemn parting
Calmly say, "Thy will be done"
Tho' cast down, we're not forsaken,
Tho' afflicted, not alone;
Thou didst give and Thou hast taken
Blessed Lord—Thy will be done.

As I looked at the little body tonight in its little casket it seemed to me I could see a loving smile on its lips as I have seen so many times before when it was in health. And I came home wondering if the Son of Man would come to night. How many of us in Stony Bottom could say I am ready Lord. My dear friends and my dear children and childrens' children think this serious matter over and get ready for death. Let us not think but lets act.

BE READY

Therefore be ye also ready for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh.

It may be when the midnight
Is heavy on the land
The black waves lying dumbly,
Along the dreary sand,
When moonless night draws closer
Above the sleeping sea,
When all are slumbering soundly
And no one thinks of me.

Be ready every moment
Be robed and sanctified
For quickly I will claim you
My own beloved bride,
In sweet and pleasant union
We there shall ever be
And dwell in bliss together
Through all eternity.

These are but few of the biographical facts of her life and which in no way portray the full illuminative radiance of her presence to those who knew her. Her greatest life achievement was not in the realm of professional or vocational success but in the more vital area of human relations. Here, truly was an artist's life—an artist that could paint the most touching morals of loving kindness from which radiated only beams of sparking sunshine in which never a blotch of bleakness was ever portrayed. This artistic issuance from her life stemmed from her acceptance of "The Word as a lamp unto her feet, and a light unto her path."

Those with whom she was closely associated have had a wondrous opportunity to live close to a life which had been influenced generously with a glow of the presence of the divine. The lives that she has aided in molding have been set on a firm foundation fortified by a flawless strength.

Those her relatives, and those her friends, continue into the future by the acceptance of the words expressed by the great English poet:

"Our cause of sorrow must not be measured by her worth, for then it hath no end."

Our Army and Navy Boys

Miss Eleanor McLaughlin, of Huntersville received this letter from her sister, Lieutenant Decima McLaughlin, who was serving with the United States Army Nurses' Corps in Italy. This letter was written just ten days before her death on October 6, following an operation:

Somewhere.
September 26, 1943.

Dearest Sis and all:

Well, here I am again and sure wish I was there having a talk with you all, telling you these things I am unable to write you. It is now 7:00 p. m. here and it is so dark. We go on duty at 7:30 so it seems as if it is in the middle of the night. We have been awful busy this week; worked 11 hours a couple of days, so you can figure we are working some now. It is a pleasure though to be busy for one don't have time to think.

I wrote to Jim and also to his mother. I received mail once this week but it was all old mail. I got one letter from Azel. I was so glad to hear from him. I wrote to him—even though I could not say where I am.

There is a movie tonight—so that's a break, although I am not going. Guess I will go to bed as usual at 8:30 p m. Sure do get plenty of sleep these nights.

It is raining now. It sure will be a mess if it rains much, and the raining season will soon start. Then I guess we will wear coveralls all the time and big heavy shoes. I do not think I'll like that.

I hope you all are well. I am fine so far. Tell everyone hello for me. Sure hope I hear from you real soon. Love and kisse to all.

Dessie.

Last week her aunt Mrs. Demmick and uncle, Clifton Samples, went to Pocahontas and removed the little sufferer to a Ronceverte hospital where it is hoped, careful nursing may save her life. Detroit, March 28—1916 A woman who first tried to involve her brother-in-law in a murder charge confessed tonight that it was she who had killed her four year old niece.

Mrs. Jeanette Grosso, 36, first told police that the little child's father, Albert Ratliff, of Marlinton, West Virginia, kicked and beat Anna Lee until she died.

Confronted with proof that Ratliff had never left Marlinton and could not have been in Detroit last night, she broke down and confessed.

Her confession police said, bore out the report of her husband, Michael, 53, that she has a sharp temper and often whipped the baby for disobedience.

Police said Mrs. Grosso slapped the child before supper yesterday and when the pretty little blonde girl sulked over her meal, Mrs. Grosso thrashed her with a belt containing a buckle.

An autopsy indicated that a savage blow on the girl's head had caused the death, and police said they were still hunting for the weapon.

When the child crying bitterly, went up to her bedroom to get her pajamas, Mrs. Grosso told police, she sulked and refused to come down for assistance in putting on the night garments.

Mrs. Grosso told police she went upstairs and found her weeping on the bed. In a fit of rage, Mrs. Grosso said she whipped her with a razor strap.

As she started to help her with her pajamas, Mrs. Grosso said she fainted and fell on top of her.

When she came to, the child was gasping. Mrs. Grosso told police she washed her face and while she did so the little girl collapsed and died. Mrs. Grosso said she thought this was about [illegible] She called a neighbor. [illegible]rs later she called police [illegible]om Ratliff was respon-

When grief is new it is hard to pray
"Thy will be done" is hard to say,
With heart and mind all numb with pain
We cry "Beloved, come back again."
But can we really ask that she
Return from God's eternity
To suffer and grow old in years?
The selfish cry is drowned in tears.
Death comes to all, one first must go,
If she were left she'd sorrow so;
It's better that I wait awhile,
God grant I do it with a smile.

In loving memory of Moody Orndoff Sheets, born April 13, 1921 Departed this life March 9, 1924, on Sunday morning oh, how sad and lonely he left us Without his smiling little face and sweet words of such great joy and comfort But the memory will still grow sweeter and brighter for God only give us this little sunbeam a blessing that nothing but Heaven could send to make home more happier and brighter But a dear little life as his was to stay with us short time, but now has gone to make Heaven brighter, where he is safe in the arms of Jesus, free from all sorrow and pain He will never call us again to sit by his chair or tell mother to dress his little head to relieve his suffering through which he was so patient for eleven weeks He would tell us how he would go to church when his head got better Oh! how sad it seems to us that we no more in our home in this world can hear his voice sing and then see him get down on his little knees and pray which he had done so long But then the glorious thought that bring Heaven so near to our aching hearts is that little Moody's smiling face is seen in Heaven today and his voice still sweeter than it was here And now Moody is calling us who he loved so much to come and stay with him and by God's Grace we are going to see him again where we will never have to leave no more It won't be long.

By his loved ones

Robert D. Silva

From a clipping of a Washington State daily paper, sent to us by Mrs. Dove Heckert, of Kalama, Washington, I learn of the death of an old friend, Robert Daniel Silva, of Centralia, Washington, at the advanced age of 103 years. He died on Sunday, September, 28, 1941. The funeral was held on Tuesday, and his body was buried at Woodland, Washington.

Mr Silva was a native of Pocahontas County, and lived here the first sixty-six years of his life on his farm on Stamping Creek. At the outbreak of the War between the States, he volunteered in defense of his State and saw hard and honorable service. His brothers espoused the cause of the Union. As near as I can tell he is the last soldier of that war from Pocahontas Connty to pass away.

In 1903 Mr. Silva decided to go west and grow up with the country. He first located at Woodland, Washington; later he moved to Ajlune, and about three years ago he went to Centralia to make his home with his 75 year old son, Russell Silva.

The paper says that up until he was 98 years old, Mr Silva had full use of all his faculties; writing, reading and enjoying long walks. For many years he wrote regularly to The Pocahontas Times.

Mr. Silva is survived by his six children, 25 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and five great great-grandchildren. His daughters are: Mrs Georgia Carter, of Monroe County; Mrs W. G Cochran, of Sunbury, Ohio, and Mrs T. M. Hill, of Centralia, Washington. The late Mrs Anderson Barlow, of Oneto, was another daughter.

After the death of her mother, who died in Marlinton October 27, 1918, sne made her home with her grandparents, Mr and Mrs Clay Dreppard.

We cannot say she is lost to us, for death is only a short sleep and the voice of the Lifegiver will call from the grave His own to live with Him forever.

She made a brave struggle for life, which she loved in association with parents, relatives and friends, and nature. She worshiped her grandparents and aunt. She was a senior in Marlinton high school and would have graduated this year.

Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. H. Hypes at Frost, after which her body was laid to rest in Mt. Zion Cemetery by the side of her mother. The profusion of floral offerings attested the esteem in which little Janet was held
